Space, Time and Evaluation in Ideological Discourse

Edited by Laura Filardo-Llamas, University of Valladolid, Spain, Christopher Hart, Lancaster University, UK and Bertie Kaal, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, The Netherlands

Bringing together a body of related research which has recently developed in Critical Discourse Analysis, this book is the first to address the role of perspective in socio-political discourse. The contributions to this volume seek to explore the way in which perspective functions in three dimensions – space, time, and evaluation – to enact ideology and persuasion. A range of discourse genres are analysed, including political discourse, media discourse, and songs used as political tools.

By highlighting the complex nature of perspective-taking in ideological discourse, the volume sets the agenda for further research in this area. The book will appeal to linguists, discourse analysts, media scholars, and political scientists, and all who are interested in the relationship between language and cognition in the socio-political domain.
